Mary,

We worked together successfully on three major projects. All required that you quickly get up to speed on totally new complex subject matter, including health care multi-specialty utilization patterns in diagnostic imaging.

You did a great job. The projects required accuracy and speed. Your skills in using Excel zoomed while you worked with a complex, multi-level nested set of spreadsheets that contained hundreds of procedures applied in multiples across hundreds of clinical conditions. Along the way you had to continuously update the library of references, which eventually grew to over 600.

The data we analyzed had to be interpreted and converted into PowerPoint presentation, where your help was instrumental in meeting deadlines. Your attention to detail—and skill in page layout—was important in producing 50 pages of detailed guidelines for appropriate ordering of radiology procedures.

Thank you for your hard work. I was continually impressed with your willingness to work at any and all hours of the day to get the projects done on time. I am sure we will have more similar projects in the future.
